MRS. GERTRUDE BOSTIC

At 90, Mrs. Bostic Recalls Bygone Days

Among those Memphians whose parents related to them what the Emancipation Proclamation meant when it was signed by President Abraham Lincoln, is Mrs. Gertrude Bostic of 696 Concord st.

Born the child of former slaves, Mrs. Bostic observed her 90th birthday on Christmas and as a native Memphian, she is a "walking volume of history," having watched the city grow and progress to its present stature.

Mrs. Bostic recalls that the first school she attended was the Winchester school at Front and Winchester st. From there she was transferred to Auction school and then to Grant school, where she completed eighth grade.

"My first teacher," she recalled during an interview, "was Miss Annie Wright. She later married Mr. Bob Church."

Although she liked school, Mrs. Bostic dropped out after she finished eighth grade, because she was the sole support of her sick mother and a sister. "From the time that I was nine, up until I became 18," she

Starts Operation 'U' For Job Opportunity

ATLANTA, Ga.—The executive committee of the Student Involvement Coordinating Committee voted on Dec. 30 to begin "Operation U," a massive Southwide campaign to increase employment opportunities for Negroes in utilities systems—telephone, telegram, water, gas, and light.

Charles McDew, SNCC chairman said today: "Without equal job opportunities for all races, equality and human dignity can hardly be achieved."

Negro Senator Takes Office In Georgia

ATLANTA, Ga. — Leroy Johnson, the first Negro State Senator here since Reconstruction Days, was installed when the Georgia House and Senate opened legislative session here, Monday, Jan. 14.

With Johnson taking office, the galleries to both Georgia Houses were desegregated. Forty demonstrators were arrested in February 1962 for protesting this segregation during several days of sit-ins.

$15,500 Raised In Local Drive For College Fund

A total of $15,500 was raised in the Memphis area for the United Negro College Fund, according to Frank J. Lewis, principal of Grant School and chairman of the campaign which ended last week. In a closing talk, Lewis thanked volunteer workers and contributors for helping to make the drive a success.

Lewis said: "We are especially happy to note an increase in gifts from Universal Life Insurance Co., the Co-Elites, city and county school teachers and the Pre-Alumni Club of Le-Moyne."

Funds raised for UNCF here and throughout the nation aid 32 accredited private colleges and universities. The national goal for 1962 was $3 million.

LeMoyne College's share from the fund last year was nearly $40,000.

The local campaign started early in November and continued through Jan. 7.

Walker School PTA To Meet Thursday

The Walker Avenue School PTA is scheduled to hold a meeting Thursday, Jan. 17 at 3:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. The meeting will feature a demonstration on the importance of safety in the community. It will be presented by the sixth grade, under direction of Mrs. Gloria Lindsey.

Forthcoming at the school is the annual Tea, set for Sunday, Feb. 24. Mrs. Sylvia C. Powell and Mrs. Faye Davis are chairmen.

In the recent membership drive held by the PTA, the sixth grade class of Mrs. Bernice Harris won the prize for the largest membership. Mrs. Daleria Fifer is the president. Charles J. Patterson, Jr. is the principal.

COMING TO YOUR DOOR on Saturday, Jan. 19, to participate in the annual TAP's Tag Day for the National Foundation, along with hundreds of others, will be the young people seen after making plans for the war against crippling people seen after making plans for the war against crippling diseases. Seated from left are Shirley Clements, Elice Reese, Patricia Sinclair, Jamie Simelton James Kincaide, Charles Bynum, director of ntergroup Relations for the National Foundation, who came here to meet with group; unidentified youth; Carolyn Dukes, Bertha Puryear, Ardia Ward, Mrs. R. Q. Venson and Barbara Swift. ### National Republican Chairman To Address Local Party Group

Congressman William E. Miller, chairman of the Republican National Committee, is scheduled to address a dinner meeting in Memphis Sunday, January 17, at the Peabody Hotel at 7:30 P.M.

6 New Members Nominated To BBB

Six new directors and eight hold-over directors have been nominated to the Board of the Better Business Bureau of Memphis, Inc. J. L. Boren, Sr., immediate past president of the BBS, and Chairman of the Nominating Committee, announced.

Names for three years terms to fill vacancies on the 33-man Board of Directors were: Jerome L. Caldwell, general manager, Levy's Specialty Stores, Inc.; J. Lester Crain, vice president, Humko Division, National Dairy Products Corp.; A. L. Huddleston, vice president, Union Planters National Bank; Jefferies Mann, assistant vice president, Holiday Inns of America, and Charles L. Pipar, vice president, Marx & Bensdorf, Inc. W. Percy McDonald, Jr., of First Federal Savings & Loan Association was nominated for a one year term.

Hold-over directors nominated for new 3 year terms were: Tom Malone, S. C. Toof & Co.; Ray Morton, Memphis Light Gas & Water Division; Charles Safley, S & W Oil Co.; Myron W. Smith, Hill-Smith Systems; Charles R. Wood, Southern Bell Telephone Company, and Harry Woodbury, Archer & Woodbury, Inc. Nominated for one year terms were incumbents Walter Chamberlain-Rork Electronics, Inc., and George V. Morse, Jr., BBB General Manager.

Ballots will be mailed to all members in good standing in the near future, and the results will be announced at the coming Annual Meeting of the Bureau on Jan. 17. Other members of the Nominating Committee, besides Boren, are past presidents Carl Carson, Lester F. Gindgold, Jack G. Scharff, and Myron W. Smith.

Nominees are unopposed for the vacancies, hence nomination, as in the past, is considered tantamount to election. Officers for the coming year will be elected by the Board following the Annual Meeting.

Meredith Remains Silent On Next Semester Plans

Will James H. Meredith remain at the University of Mississippi after semester examinations are over?

That question was not answered when Meredith was in Memphis for a brief visit last Saturday.

Atty. A. W. Willis, who has handled some legal work for the 29-year-old Air Force veteran, said Meredith did not make a statement as to what he would do.

News reports from the campus at Oxford last week indicated that Meredith did not plan to remain at the school unless some changes are brought about there to insure a more conducive atmosphere for learning.

Meredith has not issued a public statement about what specific changes will have to be made before he will continue.

IN HIS NAME

Since the statement was made public about the intellectual atmosphere at Oxford, segregationist-minded students have intensified the war of nerves in an effort to drive the Negro student away.

After returning to the campus last Sunday evening, one of the tires on his car was slashed and the radio antenna broken.

Persons close to the student have discounted rumors that he was planning to return to Jackson State college at Jackson, Miss., on the strength that he rented an apartment near the campus for his wife and had a telephone installed in his name.

"That's no indication he is leaving Ole Miss," one said. "He pays his wife's bills and has always had the telephone and the apartment in his name."

How does the Negro man-in-the-street feel about the possible withdrawal of Meredith from the school that brought about Federal intervention before he could be enrolled?

Some feel that he should remain at the school at all costs, including his life.

Others say that he should never have given any indication that the day-to-day harassment was taking any effect upon him.

"He should be just like Jackie Robinson was when he became the first Negro to play in organized baseball,"

What would have happened to the Negro's chances of becoming permanently in the big leagues if Jackie had stopped when the pressure was almost unbearable?"

Others say: "Yes, but Jackie Robinson did not have to remain on the playing field but a limited number of hours before he could retire to safety, whereas Meredith is in hostile territory 24 hours a day. A man can take only so much."

"Whatever the final decision," Atty. Willis said, "it will come from Meredith himself. But we are hoping that changes will be made which will enable him to remain there."

Fort Smith, Ark. Desegregates Eating Counters

FORT SMITH, Ark. — First project of the CORE group formed here last September was to desegregate the local lunch counters. By mid-January the lunch counters of Woolworth's, Kress's and McCrory's were serving everybody, regardless of color.

The change was accomplished through a series of negotiations with a committee appointed by the mayor. Reginald Watson, chairman of Fort Smith CORE, headed the group's negotiating team. CORE National chairman Charles Oldham and CORE Field Secretary Mary Hamilton participated at various stages.

To Study 'Drop-Outs' At County-Wide Meet

The Memphis Urban League has made plans to "emphasize the tragedies of school drop-outs" by conducting a county-wide student-parent workshop, announces Mrs. Grace N. Horner of the League.

The workshop has been set for Friday, Jan. 25 at Mitchell Road High School, starting at 8 p.m.

NEWLY WEDS RECEIVE VISIT FROM WELCOME WAGON: Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Venson, 519 Simpson St., Apt. 2 were happily surprised when they became the recipients of the first Welcome Wagon visit from Negro agents. Above, the newlyweds are receiving gifts from Mrs. R. Q. Venson, the first Negro agent to be hired in Memphis by Welcome Wagon. The bride is from New Iberia, La. She was delighted with her gifts from MEMPHIS BAIL BOND AGENCY, (Robert Wright, Owner) a beautiful ball point pen; T. H. HAYES & SONS, a beautiful dust pan; UNION PLANTERS BANK, a map of the city with special listings of their 77 services and bank locations—and a free 6 month deposit service will be given them on their visit to the bank; House of Chrome, a yard stick; Alice's Beauty Shop, a night cap; Hart's Bread, a delicious loaf of Hart's Tender Mix Bread; The Tri-State Defender, a six month subscription to the paper; Wooten's Super Market, a measuring cup; Galilee Memorial Gardens, a book marker; there were also material from Heart Association and March of Dimes. Mrs. Venson holds a B. S. Degree from Southern University, Baton Rouge, La. Her husband, a Deputy Sheriff with Sheriff M. A. Hinds is also a graduate of Southern university.

AUBUDON PARK golf course was desegregated on New Year's Day. First to play on the course after the dropping of the color bar were the above five, well known Memphis golfers (left-right) Mrs. Cathleen Johnson, Mrs. Helen Tarpie, Mrs. Lillian Wolfe, Mrs. Althea Pyles and Mrs. Florence M. Scott. These same five golfers were among the first 29 Negroes to play at Pine Hill when it was desegregated the first day of 1962. The same day, River View and T.Q. Fuller golf courses were also desegregated as well the John Rodgers Tennis Center, 1123 Jefferson ave., Fairgrounds amusement park, and Believe playground. The long range desegregation plan was initiated after Federal Judge Marion S. Boyd had ordered the Memphis Park Commission to submit a plan for desegregation of public parks and recreational facilities here in Memphis after a delayed legal hassle which reached the Sixth Circuit Court in Cincinnati. served as a hostess for the US and served refreshments to soldiers going through the L&N station here.

She worked for the "March of Dimes" for five years and was given a citation and a pin for her services when she retired. At one time she was secretary to the women's branch of the Knights of Pythias.

Mrs. Bostic joined Pilgrim Rest Baptist church in 1893 and in May of that year joined a long procession to Wolf River, where she was baptized by the late Rev. Herbert Merritt. She started teaching Sunday school in 1906 and now at First Baptist where she is still active and is teacher emerita. She also sings with the choir.

FIRST CLUB

She recalls that her first club was the Ruth circle organized by Mrs. Wright Moore in the early part of the century. A Mrs. Irwin, whose husband was a doctor, was its first president. The club was organized, she said, to entertain Mary Church Terrell.

At First Baptist Church, Chelsea, where she is a member, Mrs. Bostic was president of the Missionary Society for eight years and planned its first Vacation Bible School.

Presently, Mrs. Bostic is the oldest member of First Baptist Chelsea.

A widow, she was married to Randall Bostic, an expressionist, in 1920. He died 10 years after the marriage.

Standing, same order, are Olive, who was also given gold pin, 30 years, Mrs. Mary Jackson, 20 years, and Gilliam, luncheon host. A prize for correctly guessing the total number of years represented there was given to Mrs. Smith. Tied for second prize were Mrs. Washington and Miss Gordon. (Hooks Bros. Photo)

Central State To Help Train For Olympics

By HENRY E. SIMMONS

WILBERFORCE, O. — Central State college, is one of nine schools selected by the State Department to undertake the development of 1964 track prospects for the Olympics for nations which have not the coaching talent or competition to bring their own athletes to their peaks. Central State is the only predominantly Negro college in the group selected.

The selection of the Ohio college was undoubtedly based upon the fact that the college's cindermen have lost only one dual meet in the last three years. They hold the All-Ohio title, the Mid-Western Athletic Association title, and the Ohio AAU title.

In addition, Central State's cross country team has captured the NCAA national title twice in the past three years — 1960 and 1962. They did not compete for the title in 1961. Athletes from Africa, Asia and Latin America will spend 100 days in this country starting Feb. 23, as guests of the nine colleges.

Hamilton High School

By ROSIE TABOR AND MYRTLE RANKIN

Back again for another week of exciting happenings around the Big H.

SEMESTER EXAMS

Last week we left three pointers on how to study. Well, here are three points on how to take a test.

1. Remember to put your name on the test.
2. Remember to try and answer all the questions you're positive of, first.
3. Think before answering every question.

THE WAY WE HEAR IT

There are many things going on that haven't been revealed to the public. Well, we spied on a few and this is the way we see it. Earnestine Benmon seems to think there's nothing between Larry Dailey and Laura Wyley. Well, you're right, Dorothy Lewis has the power where Larry Dailey is concerned.

Archie Scruggs should be a comedian after furthering his education.

Doris Woods keeps Theodore Pickett busy.

Elice Reese and Joey Williams have something in common and it's not their smooth complexions.

Peggy Brown should send Amos Miller home before she leaves the campus in the afternoon because Gloria Denton thinks he's nice.

Joyce Walton and Theodore Anderson are an ideal couple. James Arthur can't seem to realize valuable property when a salesman tries to sell it to him. Dorothy James will be a true girl until Frankie returns.

WHY!!!

1. Andrew Matlock, why is it that you don't seem to want a certain young lady and lassie to get together? I'm sure the young lad knows what he's doing. Remember, he's a big boy, now.

2. Carol Jones hasn't put a new fellow under her power.

3. Earnest Batten and Maudette Brownlee are not together.

4. Joyce Rankin and James McBride are not talking.

5. Rubenstein Boykins and Sherman Hilton are tight.

6. Charles Ingram and Willie Ann Johnson see things eye to eye.

TOPS ON CAMPUS

Manassan Wins $25 Prize From Auto Industry

A model automobile he entered in the 1962 model car competition of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild, has won for Charles E. Earle, a Manassan High school student a check for $25 and honorable mention.

The certificate and check were presented to him recently by Louis B. Hobson, principal of the school, at an assembly program. The Guild's award was made in recognition of his skill and industry as demonstrated with the model he entered.

Earle said he would build another model to enter in the 1963 competition and try to benefit from knowledge gained on his first try.

A senior, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Earle of 1074 Tully. He belongs to Gospel Temple Baptist church where he is an active worker.

An artist, he won a certificate during a national contest held three years ago.

Public Relations Parley

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — The sixth annual College Public Relations Institute will be held at Johnson C. Smith University January 18-19.

Approximately 50 public relations officers and news directors of the predominantly Negro institutions are expected to attend the two-day institute designed for the purpose of discussing mutual problems in the area of public

MT. PISGAH NEWS

By WILLIE MAE JOHNSON & BARBARA ANN FINLEY

Hello, this is Willie Mae and Barbara letting you in on the latest happenings around the Greater Mt. Pisgah High.

Stepping into the spotlight is Ernestine Stewart, president of the sophomore class, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Stewart of 6952 Stout Germantown, Tennessee.

She is a member of the New Bethel Baptist church. In the church she is a member of the Sunday school and publicity chairman of the junior choir.

Around the campus, she is a member of the Library club, N.H.A., Gracious Ladies, treasurer of the Science club and reporter for Mrs. Mai Hunt 10-4 Homeroom.

LeMoyné Star's Father Dies

James Gordon, sophomore at LeMoyné and star defensive man on the college's basketball team, returned to Louisville, Ky. on the weekend to attend the funeral of his father who died Friday morning. Services were held Monday of this week.

Her hobbies are writing, dancing and collecting photos. After graduation she plans to attend an undecided college, but her ambition is to be a doctor.

January 11, the Mt. Pisgah Eagles "A" Team defeated Geeter's "A" Team 75-63 and the "B" Team was defeated 41-40 in favor of Geeter.

To Be Honored at Testimonial

Plans are being made by the Anna S. Church Temple No. 695 of the local Daughter Elks to honor Mrs. LaBlanche Jackson at a testimonial banquet, set for Sunday, Jan. 20, at 6:30 p.m., in the Universal cafeteria, 480 Linden Ave., announces Mrs. Irma Stidum, daughter ruler of the Temple.

Mrs. Jackson, who is employed as a teller at the Tri State Bank, received her past grand daughter ruler of the Elks during the 1962 annual national Elks convention held in Detroit, Mich. She joined the above temple in 1944, and went on to become daughter ruler.

Presently she is a state district deputy of the lodge, state treasurer and works in the lodge's educational department.

Mrs. Jackson lives at 309 Hernando St.

THE Pulpit SPEAKS

REV. C. THOMAS PAIGE

"I am come that they might have life and have life more abundantly!"

KEEP IN TUNE

A lonely shepherd stood on the hills of Palestine watching over his flock of sheep. While the broadcasting hours were active he listened to his radio while he watched for enemies of the sheep. But there came a time when the radio went off the air and he had to spend other means of entertaining himself during the long hours.

He thought about playing his violin. But there was the problem of keeping his violin in tune. Suddenly he hit upon the idea of writing to the radio station and telling the announcer of his plight and informed him that it would greatly help him if each night before signing off to strike "A" on his piano that he might tune his violin.

This is not some isolated case in our world — countless numbers of men are out of tune. They realize that they are out of tune with the best that the world has to offer. They are sitting quietly by waiting for someone to strike "A" that they might get in tune.

But the man or the woman who strikes "A" must have something upon which to produce it. This has been historically true. Countless numbers of potentially good men have fallen upon the piles of moral, spiritual, intellectual, and cultural debris because no one sounded "A" in their presence that they might get in tune with the higher and better things of life.

If we have mission here on this earth it is to set in tune the lives of those about us. This is dynamically true these days. In the last two weeks our community has lost two persons we could ill-afford to lose at this trying hour — Mrs. Willa McWilliams Walker and Mrs. Lucy Campbell Williams.

Both of these noble women have sounded their "A's" and touched and moulded the lives of countless numbers of people by their having sojourned on this earth. But it is not left for the them alone to sound their "A" that other lives might get in tune. It is something that each of us should do daily that men as they observe our walk, our talk, our behavior when we are watched and when we are on our own that should inspire them to the highest that is in them.

This lonely shepherd — out there surrounded by darkness, engulfed by enemies, and filled with fears needed something to ward off the long dreary hours. There are men today who are alcoholics, dope-fiends and the like trying to ward off life — they need someone to sound their "A" in their lives and give them new meaning.

NEEDED HERE

Years ago One looking over the field of desolation and desecration told them about Him. "I am come that they might have life and have it more abundantly!" That was His mission here. Each one of us should think of life in terms of a mission. This idea does not carry with it that we should go to Africa, China, or Japan but it does say to us that we should "brighten the corner where we are!"

Oh today countless numbers of people are on the very verge of breaking beneath the load of mental, emotional, and physical strain. Someone needs to be on the sidelines so strong themselves that they can speak to the hearts of these weary travellers and give their lives importance — an importance that heretofore they have never known.

Today someone needs to come down not from heaven but from their high moral and spiritual pedestal and touch the lives of those who are weaker than themselves. Someone needs to open the eyes of the blind and touch the hearts of the mean. Only to the extent that we see this as our mission will our lives ever be what they should be. Today the world needs strong men and women who have not bowed to Baal themselves. It needs men who have their perspectives right first themselves and are now in a position to give meaning and direction to the lives of those about them.

Someone must step out on the threshold of life today in the midst of all the confusion and adversities and give meaning to all the lives they touch. Each one of us must sound an "A" that will penetrate the darkness and give meaning to life.

Widow To Continue Youth Work Started By Rev. Harmon

Mrs. Katie Ruth Harmon, widow of the late Rev. Earl Harmon, founder of Youth for Christ, with headquarters at 145 Beale, has succeeded her husband as director of the organization.

The organization, founded on Dec. 2, 1946, is being supported by businesses and other firms in the city.

Rev. Harmon died in Chicago on Dec. 21 and services for him were held at the Greater St. John Baptist church. He was buried in that city.

Having a "burden for youth," he established Youth for Christ at the YMCA and began visiting schools and churches in an effort to attract young people to his interdenominational program.

He began a radio program on which youth could display their talent.

Among those who became closely associated with him in the program were young people who became nurses, teachers, radio personalities and others in outstanding positions.

Mrs. Harmon has been with Youth for Christ since it was founded. She lives at 1346 Chadwick cl.

Scholarship For Miss A.C. Hanson

A scholarship fund in memory of Miss Alma C. Hanson has been started at LeMoyné College with $300 contributed by several of her friends; it was announced this week by Dr. Hollis F. Price, president of the college.

Other persons desiring to give to the fund should mail checks directly to the college. Miss Hanson's entire estate, valued at approximately $50,000, will provide aid to needy students at LeMoyné, President Price said.

She was at LeMoyné more than 40 years, serving the college as treasurer and later as superintendent of grounds.

75 Churches Plan For Tea At Owen College

The Memphis Baptist Pastors Alliance is sponsoring the fifth annual Baptist International Tea on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 20, at Owen College for the benefit of that institution.

Beautifully decorated tea tables will be placed in the dining hall, social rooms and gymnasium and a musical program featuring outstanding talent from the participating churches will be held in the Roger Williams Hall auditorium.

A new feature has been inroduced this year. Rev. S. B. Kyles will head a committee responsible for providing exhibitors from local business firms for the booth spaces available in the lobby of the College's Administration building.

THE CHURCHES

The local Baptist churches co-operating in this annual effort are: Antioch, Springhill, Bethlehem, Beulah, Bloomfield, Cane Creek, Castalia, Central (Bartlett), Cummings Street, Emmanuel, Eastern Star, Early Grove, Ebenezer, First (Chelsea), First (East), First (Lauderdale), First (Magnolia), First (Beale), Friendship (Klondyke), Friendship (Gold), and Greater First.

Also Greater Middle, Greater Mt. Moriah (Florida), Greater Mt. Moriah (Orange Mound), Macedonia (Griggs), Macedonia (Terry Road), Metropolitan, Monumental, Morning View, Mt. Lebanon, Mt. Nebo, Mt. Vernon, Mt. Zion, Mt. Pisgah, New Era, New Bethel and New Friendship.

And New Hope, New Salem, New Bethel (Stovall), Oak Grove, Olivet, Progressive, Promise Land, Pleasant Green, Rock of Ages, Springdale, Salem-Gilfield, Shiloh (Court St.), Shiloh (Utah), St. John (Douglas), St. John (Vance), St. Jude, St. Luke, St. Matthews (Wicks), St. Paul, St. Stephen, St. John (Deadrick), St. Paul (Douglas), Tabernacle, Union, Union Valley, Volentine, Whitestone (Parkway), Zion Hill, and Tree of Life.

Tickets for the tea may be obtained at the cooperating churches or at the college.

Bahai's World Religion Day To Be Jan. 20

The Baha'is of Memphis will hold their annual observance of World Religion Day on Sunday, Jan. 20 at 3:30 at the Baha'i Center, 1352 Madison Avenue, according to Mrs. John Myers, Chairman of the Memphis Baha'i Assembly.

Miss Betty Woodward of Memphis will discuss the topic "Discovering Unity in Religion" and show slides of the world religions.

World Religion Day was established by the National Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of the United States in 1949 to gain public recognition as the motivating force for world peace in a society now hovering on the brink of nuclear war.

Baha'is believe that the foundations of all the world's religions are essentially the same, and that they must eventually come together in one all-embracing world faith.

Baha'is now reside in every part of the world, having established more than 9,000 centers in 257 countries represented by 56 national and regional Assemblies.

Local Religious Group Plans Special Prayer For 3 Sentenced To Die

The Baha'is of Memphis plan to hold a special prayer meeting for three of their co-religionists in Nador, Morocco who were recently sentenced to death. Five others were sentenced to life imprisonment and another faces a 15-year prison term at hard labor.

The meeting will take place at the Baha'i Center, 1352 Madison Ave. on the evening of Friday, Jan. 18.

"The condemned men," Mrs. John Myers, chairman of the Baha'i local spiritual assembly said, "were to be executed on Dec. 26, but they are still alive."

"Fortunately, the Moroccan Supreme Court decided to re-examine the case against the condemned men," Mrs. Myers said. "The hearing is now slated for some time late in January."

"The trial of the nine Baha'is received world-wide criticism," Mrs. Myers added. "The French newspaper LE MONDE called the trial 'inquisition in Morocco' and the Nador court 'the witches of Nador.'"

"The International League for the Rights of Man also has reacted to the great injustice inflicted against the Baha'is of Morocco. Roger Baldwin, chairman of the League, has urged the International Commission of Jurists to send an observer to the Supreme hearing."

"The only 'crime' of the imprisoned Baha'is in Morocco was to practice their faith, and this should not be considered a crime in this day," Mrs. Myers said.

Architecture Award Won By Designer of LeMoyné's Library

The First Honor Award in Architecture, offered by the Gulf States Region of the American Institute of Architects at its 12th annual conference, was won by Gassner-Nathan-Browne of Memphis for the design of LeMoyné College's newly erected library building.

The ultra-modern building was opened Jan. 3 and will be dedicated during the spring after the placing of a mosaic mural by Ben Shahn, one of America's foremost contemporary artists. A huge skylight will illuminate the work. The building was erected at a cost of $253,000.

SERVING 1,000,000 NEGROES IN THE TRI-STATE AREA

Remain At Ole Miss--Despite Obstacles

James Meredith, the first known Negro to attend classes at the University of Mississippi, has strongly indicated that he is entertaining the notion of withdrawing from the university the second semester.

Where we readily understand the agony Mr. Meredith has suffered since his enrollment at the University last Sept. 30 amid rioting injuring of hundreds and the killing of two persons—plus the military installation-like aspect the university's campus assumed after the arrival of great number of U.S. Marshals and U.S. Troops, we hope Mr. Meredith will muster some of the fortitude he demonstrated before his eventful admittance and remain as a student at the University of Mississippi.

Whether Mr. Meredith fully realizes it or not, he has become the national symbol of hope for millions of Negroes who have grown weary awaiting the fulfillment of promises espoused by the Emancipation Proclamation.

Mr. Meredith is also saddled with the responsibility of not casting a reflection upon the National NAACP, which fought so diligently through courts which resulted in his admittance. He owes a debt of gratitude to the President of the United States, John Kennedy, and the U.S. Attorney General, Robert F. Kennedy, for defending his rights as a U.S. Citizen to attend the university—steps which are rare for a President and Attorney General of this country to take.

Mr. Meredith is the symbol of the proverbial "straw" which can break the back of racial segregation in Mississippi.

It is only when pressure is relentlessly applied the best human qualities manifest themselves. In this case, Mr. Meredith can demonstrate his courageousness by remaining at the university as a student. At the same time, he can be a constant reminder to Gov. Ross Barnett and other racial segregationists that America cannot long endure if it continues the folly of racial segregation — and White and Negro Americans must work with harmony for the mutual benefit of both and the country.

Surely Mr. Meredith is fully aware that history has proven that progress comes only after a struggle.

We urge Mr. Meredith to remain at the University of Mississippi despite his obstacles.

Our Greatest Respect

A block has been removed forever from the mosaic pattern of Memphis' life by the recent death of Lucie E. Campbell Williams. However, her influence upon this community will live on as long as there is a man or a woman, boy or girl who will employ some of the lessons taught them by her during her 40-year tenure as a public school teacher here.

Mrs. Williams did not confine her teaching to the three Rs or to the classroom. She taught by being a living example of dedicated service in the field of education, to the Baptist church, and to the City of Memphis.

Her love for Booker T. Washington high school, where she taught about 40 years before her retirement, was equaled only by her love for the National Baptist Convention, USA, Inc., with which she had been affiliated nearly a half century.

Mrs. Williams' deep religious fervor was manifested in the words of the many famous sacred songs composed by her.

One could not long remain in her presence without being favorably effected by her great spirituality which was pregnant with courage, stamina, fortitude and integrity.

It was a rich and rewarding experience to have known Lucie E. Campbell as she was affectionately known despite her marriage to Rev. C. R. Williams, several years ago.

Like the title of one of her songs "Something Within," she had "Something Within" that made everyone know that she was dedicated to the service of her fellowman, God and her country. Greater service cannot be asked—or even expected. A greater life cannot be lived.

The memories of Mrs. Lucie E. Campbell earn our greatest respect.

NOTWITHSTANDING

Thaddeus T. Stokes

"Well Done" Lucie E. Campbell

Few people of great attainment have impressed me more favorably than Lucie E. Campbell—and it is with regret that we must experience the silence that her hushed voice has created.

I knew and liked sacred songs written by Miss Campbell many years before I came to Memphis where I first met her. As I recall, a late uncle of mine, Jubbie Allen, also loved and sang songs composed by Miss Campbell. As a matter of fact, one of his favorite religious songs was "He'll Understand, and Say Well Done." This is also one of my favorites.

My uncle did not have the warm experience of meeting Lucie Campbell. He lived a poorer life for not having had this privilege.

Few people with such lowly beginning as Miss Campbell have soared to such great heights without losing the common touch—or lived a life so completely dedicated to the service of man and God as Lucie Campbell. Her great spirit for overcoming obstacles was contagious. No doubt, this was the quality in her which inspired many of the thousands school youngsters, whom she taught to fight for accomplishments despite all odds.

PRIME EXAMPLE

Her own life was a prime example of what can be accomplished if one is inspired with the desire to succeed—plus other qualities such integrity, fortitude and a firm belief in a supreme being. Without these qualities Lucie Campbell would have remained just one of the nine children born to the late Burrell and Isabella Campbell at Duck Hill, Miss., nearly 80 years ago.

Just to live was not enough for a courageous person like Lucie Campbell. She obtained her early education at Carthage School and went on to graduate as valedictorian in her class from Booker T. Washington. Later she returned to Washington as a high school teacher for 40 years.

She also obtained additional education at Rust college in Holly Springs, Miss., University of Chicago, Tennessee State A & I university in Nashville and Columbia university in New York City—all because her life was a continued process of learning in order to help others to learn.

Miss Campbell was best own in religious circles because she became the music director of the National Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress of America, vice president-at-large of the National Baptist Music Convention, president of the National Baptist Choral Society of the National Baptist Women's Convention of America and a charter member of the National Song Leaders' Convention.

Lucie Campbell gave to the world more than 40 sacred songs.

In the area of education she earned all the recognition that could be awarded a public school teacher.

Paraphrasing the words of one of Lucie Campbell's songs—she gave to the world the best of her service—she told the world of the Savior. Her hands were sore and scarred from the work she did. And when she came to the end of her journey—wearied of life and her battle was won—to the very end she carried the staff and the cross of Redemption.

We must say of her life's work "Well Done."

MEREDITH PRO • CON

Well, now Negroes in these parts . . . closest to the scene of action . . . are beginning to develop "pro & con" opinions about the newest internationally-publicized Sepia Civil Rights hero, James Meredith. The pros and cons were brought out into the open last week following Mr. Meredith's press release concerning his possibly leaving the University of Mississippi, because of constant harassment and obstructions to study and a normal existence as a university student.

Most Negro reaction is almost a hundred per cent behind Mr. Meredith. Without his having to go into great detail about how he is being harassed by the white students at the University, many of his Negro sympathizers fill in with their imaginations.

TENSION-PACK

They can hear basketballs being dribbled all night long in the room over Meredith's . . . to keep him from studying and sleeping. They can see and feel the searing heat from the "hate stares" they are sure he encounters from every nook and corner of the campus. They can word the questions the professors pick from the back of the book to trick the tension-packed Meredith. They can feel with him the fears he has for the safety of his parents and relatives in other Mississippi towns. Their ears tingle with Mr. Meredith's as they catch under-breath epithets and insults hurled from every hearing distance.

Mr. Meredith does not have to explain to most Negroes his definition of the word "harassment." They are on the "pro" side . . . in his corner . . . for better or for worse.

WITH THE BOOKS

Nothing the University officials, Mississippi's white political leaders, or any other apologists for the situation can change these "pro's" undying and unrestrained loyalty to Meredith and the cause he represents.

But as said in the outset, there are signs of developing "con" sentiments among some segments of Negroes in these parts. That doesn't mean they are opposed to the cause Mr. Meredith has so courageously stuck his personal neck out to espouse. But they are beginning to question Mr. Meredith's judgment and methods.

One of the "con" arguments goes like this: "Meredith knew what he was getting into when he went down there. In fact, it might have been worse than he expected. Now that he's in it, why holler? Why run to the newspapers every time some race-baiter calls him 'coon'?" He won the first battle of this race war, and got into the school. Well, now the second battle is to win with the books.

TRIED WITH FIRE

"Now, it's true a body needs time, facilities, and opportunity to study. But in the absence of such things, one just has to find a way or make one. And it's a known fact that it's easier to say that, than to do it. But that's the job Meredith set for himself. "When he keeps talking to the newspapers and crying out loud, he makes a bad impression. He ought to quit talking, and either take it or leave it. Don't forget . . . Jackie Robinson broke into the major leagues under similar, or even worse handicaps. He knew in advance that he would be tried with fire. And he was tried with fire.

They threw baseballs at his head on the field . . . bottles curse words, and dirty names from the stands . . . they tried to spike him and otherwise disable or kill him. Even his team mates gave him the anti-freeze act.

CRY-BABY

But, Jackie knew his job . . . he saw what was cut out for him to do. So he didn't waste his time giving cry-baby press conferences and otherwise trying to play on the sympathies of the public. And don't forget, the public of the world was watching the Jackie Robinson "experiment." And he had not only the opposition of the folk of one school or state, but he had to endure the suspicions, doubts, fears, and hates of most of the supporters of an entire world of sport.

But Jackie Robinson rose to the occasion. Not only did he make good for himself, but he made the majors safe and sane for others of his race.

IF IT KILLS HIM

And also remember, Jackie Robinson is not the only Negro who has successfully met the jibes and jeers, the jostlings and jeopardy that follow in the wake of significant advances for a person of his ilk. Negroes all over, not only in education, but in industry, law, medicine, military service, and what-have-you, have met situations similar to Meredith's. And they encountered seemingly insurmountable odds. But there was one big difference . . . they didn't have the coverage of a sensation-seeking press, radio, or television service. They didn't seek the services of such media . . . because they knew something.

They knew that too much and too loud publicity is bad. It's like calling one's punches before delivering them, and giving the opponent a chance to dodge. They knew that it's better to keep quiet and be thought a fool, than to speak out and remove all doubt. Meredith ought to keep quiet, if it kills him! Selah!

Success And Big Heads

IN THE ENTERTAINMENT field in our times, particularly as it relates to singing, an artist with a hit record may leap to success overnight. A young singer may become a temporary star within a week. Success to anyone, in the theatre or not, is pleasant. In the entertainment world it usually brings money, publicity and adulation. Sometimes when all three come all at once, it is pretty hard for a young and immature person to behave well. As an old worker in the vineyard of the arts, I would like to offer a little advice to those lucky ones who might be so fortunate as to find their talents discovered overnight.

In the first place, I would say, don't put your what-you-may-call-it on your shoulders right away. Even your best friends might not recognize such high hat-teness. Be yourself. Keep cool. Do not ignore the folks who knew you WHEN—even if such people are still where they were then. Not everybody can have a hit record or a mention in Ed Sullivan's column. Not everybody can make money young, become famous early, or afford to move out of the Black Belt, live in downtown hotels, or buy a house in the suburbs. If you are able to do such things, please do not give the quick brush-off to the people who are not so fortunate. "Pride goeth before a fall." Don't ride for a tumble. In this U.S.A. of ours, it is very easy to be up today and down tomorrow. So live when up, that if you should fall, there will be somebody to sympathize—even to help pick you up. Just because you may be riding in a fine new car, there is no good reason not to speak to the guy or gal who is still walking.

Ethel Friendly, Courteous

MISS ETHEL WATERS is an old trooper. She came up the hard way, from basement cabarets and colored T.O.B.A. vaudeville to stardom on Broadway. One afternoon when "Member Of The Wedding" was playing at the beautiful old, Empire Theatre in New York City, I went backstage to tell Miss Waters how much I had been moved by her beautiful performance, since I had known Ethel Waters for a long time. But ahead of me there were many theatre-goers who did not personally know the star, numbers of them young people who had probably pinched pennies to buy a seat away up in the top balcony. In the backstage crowd there were Negroes and whites.

To everyone who came into her dressing room to shake her hand or seek an autograph, Ethel Waters was courteous and friendly. She offered her hand, she smiled, she said a friendly word. There was no quick scrawling of her name with a frown on a program. Ethel Waters projected the same warmth and humanity in her dressing room as she did on the stage.

Some High Hat, Boorish

I WISH some of our younger stars, who are brusque and unfriendly to admirers, would learn to behave as Ethel Waters did when she was riding the Broadway wave at its crest. It is not enough to be a sympathetic performer on stage. One should also be sympathetic off-stage, as well, in so far as the general public is concerned. Not ill-mannered, high-hat, and boorish. Particularly, if one is a Negro star, it would seem to be wise—from a public relations viewpoint—to behave well and in a mannerly fashion to fans and well-wishers who wait at the stage door to express their admiration.

There are some stars who act as if they are not dependent upon the dollars, that ordinary people pour into the box offices. But where else does their living and their stardom come from—if not from the millions of ordinary unknown folks who buy tickets, purchase records, or put dough for radios and television sets in order to listen to the stars?

If some few hundred or maybe a thousand or so want to get an autograph, shake hands, and just say, "You're so wonderful," it would seem to me wise to let them do so without a cold stare or an irritated frown getting in the way. It is hard to continue to admire someone off-stage when he or she behaves like a varmint if personal relations are involved.

THEY SAID IT

"Entering the main stream of American life will mean for many Negroes developing a new sense of values. Many will have to learn that in order to be integrated they themselves must learn and practice integration. This will mean that many Negro Americans will have to learn to participate more fully in the activities of the P.T.A.s, the various community drives, and other matters of civic concern. In other words they will have to learn themselves to join the 'main stream' of American life in order to be a part of it."

Judge Edith Sampson of Chicago's Municipal Court

Love, Closer Families Could Cut Crime Rate

I SINCERELY hope all who read this column had an enjoyable holiday. I don't often write about highly personal things, but I'm anxious to let the world know that for my wife, Rachel, and me, this holiday season turned out to be the most wonderful we've ever experienced.

I'm not speaking so much of the many cards and nice gifts which we received.

There was one gift which we wouldn't exchange for a million dollars.

Our three children—David, Sharon and Jackie, Jr.—presented us with a loving cup. On it were written the simple words: "To the best parents." Under this inscription were their names.

Prized Trophies

At our home in Connecticut, I have a trophy room in which I keep many mementos of my sports career—as well as plaques, awards and loving cups of all descriptions which have been given to me for work in the civil rights field after I left the game.

Among the most prized possessions in this trophy room are the NAACP's Springairn, The Baseball Hall of Fame trophy and the SCLC's 1962 Hall of Fame Plaque.

Yet, honestly, I can say that Rae and I prize this loving cup we received from the youngsters above anything we have.

I develop this subject because I am hoping there will be a bit of help for others in my expression of the reason for our gratitude.

Not All Harmony

LET ME NOT kid you for one moment. I don't want to pretend that all is perfect harmony and bliss at our home. Like any other family, we have our problems. Up until this Christmas, we haven't been sure we were even on our way to solving some of our problems.

The loving cup has given us hope that we may be able to make a deal of progress in 1963.

We believe the solution to difficult family situations lies in the projection of love and kindness between children, parents and others who are in close contact. We also believe that casting one's bread upon the waters truly returns happiness to those who give as well as to those who receive.

African President Proves To Be Good Student Of English: Teacher

BAMAKO, Mali, (UPI)—"Good evening, my teacher," said President Modibo Keita of Mali.

"Good evening, my teacher," said Mrs. Keita. A roomful of fellow students, including several Malian cabinet ministers, addressed similar greetings to Alex Bendazzi of Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

The occasion was English class at the Malian presidency and Bendazzi was the teacher. In Africa, where independence is flowering, some countries speak English, some French—depending on their colonial history. President Keita found it inconvenient to be fluent only in French.

For instance, when he met with Ghanian President Kwame Nkrumah, they could communicate only through an interpreter.

So Keita decided to brush up on his English. He had learned some at school.

French-speaking Bendazzi, 33, an English teacher to foreign diplomats in Washington, D.C., was contacted by the United States Information Service and rushed from Washington on 10 days notice. A graduate of Queens college in New York and former social worker there, he had studied French at Paris' Sorbonne University.

"I drove a jeep, all dressed in formal wear, up Kolouba Hill and into the Presidency," Bendazzi recalled.

"I entered by a side-door into the residence section. Class took place in a drawing-room, air-conditioned, with a long, rectangular table in the center. Three times a week: Monday, Wednesday and Friday. From 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. after dinner.

ALWAYS PUNCTUAL

"The President came in with his wife, both in flowing native dress. They were always punctual. They told me 'good evening, my teacher,' and shook my hand. Then class began.

"We sat around the long table, about a dozen of us. The President and I sat opposite each other across the table at the end near the door. The President set a tape-recorder on the table between us.

"The President is an excellent teacher himself," said Bendazzi, "and he kept the class in good humor. Once in a while he would kid one of his ministers on a point of pronunciation.

"Mrs. Keita found the expression 'what about' very funny. It sounded like 'warra-ba,' a Bambara word meaning lion."

BRINGS FRUIT ALONG

Bendazzi said that for one class the President brought plates, knives, forks, spoons, tangerines, oranges, mangoes and bananas, and wanted to know the words for them in English.

"At the end of the class he gave me two tangerines, two oranges and two bananas," Bendazzi recalled.

"My class continued for three months, with some interruptions due to the President's state affairs. I used the dialogue approach with conversational English. I explained some points in French. I brought in some subjects from African life, and they liked it.

"The President was the keenest of them all," said Bendazzi. He always came to class having studied the previous lesson at home. He felt pride in his progress."

Western diplomats in Bamako believe Keita can speak fair English. However, he rarely uses it in public for fear of making mistakes.

NOT EVEN BROKEN LEG suffered in an auto accident deterred Charles Smith, proprietor of Doctor's Pharmacy, 500 East 63rd Street, from keeping his pledge to support Leontyne Price benefit concert for Fisk University.

Smith personally purchased $100 worth of tickets to the February 3 affair from Millard Robbins, chairman of businessmen's group, and placed others on sale in his place of business.

Author Reveals 'Scars' Of Negro Masquerade

SAN FRANCISCO—John Howard Griffin, the novelist who dyed his skin black to discover "what it's like to be a Negro," said in a national magazine interview that the experience gave him "a terrible sadness."

Griffin's remark, his first comment in two years on his sensational masquerade through the Deep South, were made in an interview in the January issue of Ramparts, a new national Catholic journal published at Menlo Park, Calif.

He said the "terrible sadness" came with the aftermath of the trip—the continuing barrage of slander, hate and persecution from his fellow whites.

NATIONAL FUROR

Griffin, a 42-year-old Texan, was a best selling novelist even before he wrote "Black Like Me," the account of six weeks in the fall of 1959 when he traveled through Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and Georgia disguised as a middle-aged Negro.

His first-hand revelation of the often shocking situation of the South's "second-class citizens" created a national furor.

"The book was a nightmare to me," Griffin told Ramparts. The novelist said that he and his wife "prepared somewhat" for "reprisals and grief"—but they got more than they bargained for.

CROSS BURNED

A cross was burned on the hill above his Mansfield, Texas home. His parents left the country because they couldn't bear the hostilities and violence the book provoked.

Griffin said that many southern whites wrote and said they "wished" they could help the Negroes.

But these whites "feared reprisals," Griffin said, and didn't do anything.

A convert to Roman Catholicism, Griffin said he undertook the racial experiment because "some of us must be prepared to be martyrs for the love of humanity."

Portions of Griffin's forthcoming autobiography, "Scattered Shadows," were also published in the January issue of Ramparts. Griffin was blind for ten years before regaining his sight in 1957.

Seeks Injunction Against U.S. In Miss. Case

JACKSON, Miss. — (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Joe Patterson said he would seek an injunction against the Army unless the federal government halts its plans to construct semi-permanent facilities for troops on guard duty at the University of Mississippi.

"In the event the military authorities decline to accede to the requests of Sen. (John) Stennis, Congressman (John) Bell Williams and other members of the Mississippi delegation in Congress not to construct military barracks and other buildings on the property of the University of Mississippi at Oxford, I intend to file proceedings in the United States District Court seeking to enjoin the erection of any buildings on any of the properties of the University of Mississippi by military authorities," Patterson said.

Man Acts As Pincushion

GLASGOW, Scotland — Duncan McKay, 21, underwent an emergency operation for removal of a two-inch needle which became embedded in his side after he left it in his shirt while sewing on a button. His wife promised to sew on the next buttons.

TRADITIONAL JAZZMAN'S FUNERAL was held in New Orleans for clarinetist John Casimir, who played with the Young Tuxedo

Brass Band since the 20's. The Brass Band joined in the funeral for the Negro musician.

New Version Of Old CCC Planned For Teen Jobless

WASHINGTON, (UPI)—Remember the old CCC camps of the 1930's? In the new congress, President Kennedy is out to revive two versions of the old-time Civilian Conservation Corps.

The original CCC was born of depression. The idea was simple:

Take idle young men off the streets and send them to forestry camps to do useful and beneficial work.

To keep them from competing with family men for jobs. The President's new idea was inspired not so much by depression but by juvenile delinquency. Its supporters claim it would be a great aid in keeping youngsters from going bad because they are idle and to help those who already have started getting in trouble.

TWO PROGRAMS

Awaiting introduction in Congress are bills which would launch two programs designed to provide useful work for youngsters 16 to 21 years of age who aren't going to school and who can't find jobs with private industry.

One program would be almost a replica of the old CCC under a new name — Youth Conservation Corps. It would enlist youngsters in federal and state forests and parks. They would be assigned to conservation work not now being done. They would not perform major construction work which can be done by private industry under contract.

The second program would be a Youth Public Service Corps, a sort of home-town Peace Corps. The youngsters would be given jobs to perform which have a public service nature.

They would work in schools, hospitals, libraries, public welfare agencies, children's homes, parks, recreational facilities and with private community service agencies such as the Boy Scouts, settlement houses, visiting nurse associations and so forth.

NOT PUNISHMENT

Enlistment in either corps would not be designed as punishment for delinquents. Quite the opposite. The so-called hard rocks would be excluded. Those convicted of serious offenses such as arson, narcotics use or assault with a deadly weapon would not be eligible until fully rehabilitated.

Nevertheless, the programs would be designed to help those who may be on the way to going bad but so far have become involved in only some petty juvenile offense.

The idea is that enlistment be entirely voluntary and that those accepted be of good character. But good character would be decided upon case by case, so that the program of help would not be denied to youngsters who might have had some minor run-in with the law.

The Conservation Corps would be limited to boys; the home-town Peace Corps to boys and girls.

All would get paid. Pay in the Conservation Corps would be about $60 a month plus extra for special skills and additional enrollments. The volunteers would live at the camp and get room, board and clothing free.

Pay in the home-town Peace Corps would be about $40 a month. The volunteers would live at home and provide their own clothing and transportation. The government would pick up half the cost of their weekly pay, up to a maximum of $20 per week.

While delinquency rather than depression is the guiding force behind the new program, the high rate of unemployment among teen-agers is an important factor. It is estimated that one out of every four persons now idle and unable to find a job is under 21 years of age. Even during periods of prosperity, the least desirable and least number of jobs go to teen-agers, who for one reason or another, drop out of school.

The Labor Department figures that during the next decade about 26 million persons under 21 will be entering the labor market looking for jobs.

West Indies Yearbook Slated For Distribution

NEW YORK — The 34th annual issue of the "West Indies and Caribbean Year Book" will soon be available, announced its publisher, Thomas Skinner and Co., Ltd.

This new, revised edition, covers all phases of development in the Caribbean.

The book's facts, figures and information, said director Donald B. Brown, embraces all of the latest possible data about the territory.

He said the 1963 edition "maintains its position as the standard reference work to the historical, geographical, economic, commercial, and social aspects" of the Caribbean.

Brazilian Bossa Nova Creators Charge Yankee Murder Of Dance

RIO DE JANEIRO — (UPI)—Play a bossa nova record by an American jazz musician here, and almost surely the beat will be drowned out by roars of protest.

The Brazilians, who created bossa nova, say the Yankees murdered it.

But Brazil's disdain for heavy-handed bossa nova musicians from the north stops short of pint-sized Lenny Dale, an American whose dance adaptation of the new mood melody has taken Rio by storm.

His dance—he calls it a universal social dance based on traditional samba patterns—evolved from a period of on-the-job training in Rio's seedy Favela district. It is there that the dark-skinned natives create the dances and songs for Rio's gaudy and bawdy pre-Lenten carnival.

LOOSELY DEFINED

His lessons learned, the 24-year-old Dale planned a dance fitting the mood-filled but loosely defined bossa nova. The upper half of the body appears to be doing a fast tango. The hips and lower extremities move in such a way as to make Elvis Presley blush.

Unlike the twist, the dancing couple dances together, except for a brief period of improvisation.

"Americans like Arthur Murray have tried to capitalize on what everyone hopes will be the successor to the twist," Lenny said. "Some people are doing what they call bossa nova in the States, but we have the real thing here.

"We're waiting. We've got the goods and the people will buy. A cheap imitation only last a short time. Our music is the real thing."

Lenny and his agent, Dick Adler, 24, plan to introduce their bossa nova dance and Lenny's singing and dancing act in the bossa nova mood in the United States and Europe soon.

The dance got its official introduction to Brazilians early this month at the Bon Gourmet club here. Its manager, who went into partnership with Dale and Adler, plans to open another place featuring the bossa nova, Dale Style, in Sao Paulo. They hope the two nightplaces will be the Peppermint Lounges of the bossa nova.

Actually, Dale is no newcomer to the dance. He started in show business at 12 as a protégé of Milton Berle and has worked in television and the movies in the United States. Most recently he was the leading male dancer in the Elizabeth Taylor extravaganza "Cleopatra."

Dale believes his dance has overcome its toughest hurdle—acceptance by the Brazilians themselves—and he is priming for an invasion of the United States following a tour of Brazil.

Proposed Book To List Top Negroes Since 1870

A new $40,000 project aimed at compiling an authentic and comprehensive Who's Who in Negro America is now in progress. The book will cover the historically significant years of 1870-1965.

"The American Negro 1870-1965" sets forth biographical data concerning prominent American Negroes whose reputation or achievement in reputable endeavors makes them of general, local, national and international interest and inquiry.

Editor of the work, George Cunningham, Jr., feels that a record of this kind will invariably "help to bring about a better international understanding between peoples of the world and their knowledge of the contributions that the Negro has made in helping to shape this world."

Publication date is tentatively scheduled for November 1, 1965. The book will sell for $6.95. Donors will receive a free copy. Pre-publication offers are being accepted.

Because a project of this nature requires a tremendous capital outlay, the editors are appealing to the general public for support. Donors of $10 or more will be mentioned in the book.

Marian L. Cunningham is the assistant editor and Chief of Research.

'Mr. South' Marks 30 Years In Senate With Stubborn Fights For Filibusters

WASHINGTON — (UPI)—President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt was mulling over his Cabinet selections. Japanese troops were fighting in China. The Kremlin had just purged two commissars.

In Washington, the Senate interrupted a banking bill filibuster to swear in a new Senator from Georgia. Leading the fight against the bill was Huey Pierce Long, the Louisiana Kingfish.

The date: Jan. 12, 1933. FDR's final Cabinet choices, the ultimate outcome of Japan's China adventure and the Kremlin purges are all history now. The Senator still is helping shape history.

On that day, Richard Brevard Russell, the youngest governor to have served his state, became the youngest member of the senate.

COMMAND POST

Now second on the Senate seniority ladder, Russell, has little time for anniversary celebrations. He is "Mr. South" and his cluttered office in the high-ceilinged old Senate office building is the South's command post for what may become a 1963 filibuster against a tighter curb on filibusters.

Like some others of his generation, Russell sometimes lacks enthusiasm for what have been called the good-new-days. That skepticism reinforces his strongly held conviction that the Senate must not impose gag rule on its members who fight for states' rights.

Power and prestige have come to Russell in full measure since he first took his Senate oath. He serves on three Senate committees—armed services, appropriations and space—and on the Senate - House atomic energy committee. He heads the influential armed services committee and is heir apparent to the appropriations chairmanship.

Russell normally speaks quietly in a rather deep voice accented in the liquid tones of a Northerner call a drawl. In Senate debate he can be moved—but rarely—to loud and vigorous speech.

It is in the civil rights arena where Russell splits most sharply with the present administration and its immediate predecessors. He has been sharply critical of the Supreme Court's ruling against school segregation and of government efforts to implement it.

With his Southern allies, Russell contends that "mixing of the races" cannot be legislated or forced. Those efforts, he feels, fly in the face of an overriding way of life.

As for the new drive to tighten the rule on stopping filibusters, Russell views it as an attempt to pillory Southern Senators and thus make political hay for other Senators in their home areas.

Generous praise from all quarters is sure to mark Russell's 30th anniversary in the Senate. His position in the Senate "club" is perhaps well charted by the comment of an implacable opponent in the more or less constant struggle over civil rights.

"Though we disagree strongly on many issues, I have enormous respect for Senator Russell as a Senator with a brilliant mind, great comment and uncommon energy; it is doubly unfortunate, therefore, that these great attributes have so often been expended in behalf of the dying cause of segregation," said Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

'Willshoot' Retires At Fisk After Getting Shot At Total Of 11 Times

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Lem T. Dawson didn't have "no education" and he didn't get one during the 20 years he became a sort of "institution" at Fisk University.

"But," he said, "I tried to stay at Fisk so people could get an education without fear." Dawson, known to thousands of former Fisk students throughout the country as "Willshoot," has retired after serving as the university's head guard-night watchman for two decades.

Actually shot at a total of 11 times on campus and wounded once off campus during the period, Dawson said his job caused him to have a lot of enemies. "They get mad at you when you chase them away from these girls," he said.

The reason he acquired such a unique nickname was possibly another explanation why he made people mad. A special city policeman and a former deputy sheriff, Dawson became known not only as a man who got shot at, but also as a night-watchman who wouldn't truck intruders on the Fisk campus and would do some rather accurate shooting of his own when circumstances demanded it.

Dawson, 72, said he "feels sort of bad about leaving Fisk." He said he will devote full time to real estate business—his own.

Emancipation Seen Freedom Milestone Ranking With All-Time Great Documents

WASHINGTON, D. C. — "The Emancipation Proclamation can be ranked with such milestones of freedom as the Magna Carta of 1215 at rural Runnymede, and the Declaration of Independence at the Philadelphia village of 1776," according to Charles H. Wesley, president of Central State College.

The Central State president shared the platform and the speakers rostrum with Attorney General Robert Kennedy as one of two featured speakers for the official opening of the Emancipation Proclamation exhibit at the National Archives.

Dr. Wesley told the distinguished audience that the Emancipation Proclamation, like other great documents in our history of freedom, gives depth and breadth to the freedom of mankind. He labeled the issuance of the proclamation as a "turning point in our history," and classified it as "a great historical event... an unusually famous document... a continuing challenge."

He predicted that just as the Magna Carta and the Declaration of Independence "have grown in historical meaning far beyond the original purpose, and has reached many shores, including Asia and Africa in this century," the Emancipation

Proclamation will continue to grow and inspire.

Dr. Wesley noted that the challenge of the Proclamation made the Thirteenth Amendment a must. He also stated that Lincoln, aware that "they who would be free must themselves strike the blow," used the Proclamation to announce that colored Americans would be used militarily to win the war—"and they served with distinction... over 200,000."

Dr. Wesley contended that the challenge of the Proclamation issued in 1863, has made and continues to make its special appeal today, "when slavery has given way to segregation." He declared that the Proclamation's challenge is now "a call for patriots who will give realism not simply to the words, but to the tones and overtones of this foundation document."

SOCIETY Merry Go-Round

BY MARJORIE I. ULEN

Still elated with the great expectations of a new year, everything is "coming up roses" in many segments of the city.

For the ministers' wives' fellowship group 'twas election time on January 7. The home of Rev. and Mrs. John Agnew, 2123 Bennett St. was the scene of the meeting and reception which followed. Officers elected and re-elected were: Mrs. William Barr, president; Mrs. W. T. Grafton, vice president; Mrs. A. J. Campbell, secretary; Mrs. J. Agnew, assistant secretary; Mrs. J. W. Wymms, treasurer; Mrs. Mildred P. Davis, publicity chairman and Mrs. M. Brunson, sunshine chairman. Others elected were Mrs. Susie Greer, chaplain; Mrs. Dave Bond, chairman of sick; and Mrs. H. Robinson, chaplain.

Following their business session, Mrs. Agnew served a delicious menu from the beautiful dining room, where the table was resplendent with an imported linen cloth designed of hand-painted roses. Missing from the warm scene was Mrs. L. D. Peppers who is convalescing at her home following an operation.

The next meeting of this Fellowship Group will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. William Barr.

GREEK OF THE YEAR

The Memphis Pan Hellenic Council will install officers and honor a fellow Greek as "Greek of the Year" at a Dutch Treat Dinner and Installation ceremony, January 16, at the Flame Restaurant.

Each of the eight member sororities and fraternities has submitted nominees for the award, and everyone will be waiting for the moment when the selection of a committee on awards will be announced.

Cecil D. Goodlow of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity will relinquish his term of office to Miss Velma Lois Jones of Alpha Kappa Sorority. Other officers to be installed are Mrs. Minnie Echols, vice president; Miss Janet Lewis, recording secretary; Mr. Ernest Riley, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Marie Adams, chaplain; Mr. Eddison Morrison, treasurer; Miss Yvonne Hawkins, parliamentarian, and Mr. John Parker as sergeant at arms. Mrs. Lorene Osborne is chairman of the affair.

LEMOYNE SUNDAY

The annual observance of LeMoyné Sunday is scheduled for Second Congregational Church this Sunday, January 20, during the regular 11 o'clock service with Dr. Samuel Williams of Atlanta as speaker.

Much in demand as a speaker, Dr. Williams is professor of philosophy at Morehouse College and a past president of the Atlanta Branch NAACP.

Members of LeMoyné's senior class will preside during the service. A reception in the Church's parish house will follow.

Dr. Williams, who holds the doctorate from University of Chicago, is also pastor of Friendship Baptist Church in Atlanta.

J-U-G-S ANNOUNCE BALL
The J-U-G-S met at the home of Mrs. Horace Chandler, Friday, January 11, to map out plans for their annual charity ball to be held Friday, March 1, 1963 in the Mezzanine Ballroom of City Auditorium.

Proceeding the discussion of the ball, the members were given a financial report of the contributions for 1961 to 1962 to the JUGS' special projects and living ads ball, which amounted to $11,288.91. The president of the organization, Mrs. Josephine Bridges, cited the valuable service being performed by the counselor, Mrs. Vivian Robinson, and the expressions of gratitude from guidance counselors and their organizations, with whom Mrs. Robinson has worked.

The JUGS were heartened also by the many individual organizations who have so unselfishly given their moral and financial assistance to their project. The need for continued support and maintenance of this counseling was stressed; for it is felt that not only unwedded mothers are helped, but also other young people. While much is being accomplished, there still remains much to be done to make everyone cognizant of the moral and spiritual issues involved, so that promiscuity and illegitimacy will be completely obliterated from our society.

The JUGS would also like to thank the public for its support in the past, and to extend to its patrons an invitation to their annual formal ball on March 1, which promises to be one of the stellar events of the new year.

The following committees were appointed for the charity ball, the details of which will be announced later by the general chairman, Mrs. Albert Miller; decorations, Mrs. Longino Cooke; invitations, Mrs. William Little; budget and finance, Mrs. Carroll Boswell; living ad show, Mrs. John Gordon; transportation, Mrs. Harold Lewis; selection of living ads, Mrs. Anderson Bridges; publicity, Mrs. Horace Chandler.

The meeting hostess, Mrs. Chandler, received her guests in a leopard print hostess gown, and served a sirlain steak dinner. Husbands of members joined the group following the business session, who with their wives and other members are Hester and A. D. Miller, Nedra and James Smith, Helen and Longino Cooke; Delores and Harold Lewis; Josephine and Anderson Bridges; Gwen and Carroll Boswell; Marie Bradford, Gerri and Bill Little, Ann and O'Ferrell Nelson, Pearl and John Gordon, and the hostess and her husband, Horace Chandler.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Last Sunday afternoon, Josephine and Anderson Bridges feted their daughter Veta Zoe Bridges with a birthday party celebrating her 11th birthday at Oak Manor Reception Hall, to which about 30 of Veta Zoe's friends were invited. The circus party, complete with simulated animals spelled fun for the preteens. Helping Jo and Anderson in entertaining the young fry were Elizabeth Simons, Hester Miller, Magnolia O'Neal and Jo's sister, Virginia Grinner.

TOP HAT AND TAILS MEET

The regular monthly meeting of Top Hat and Tails club was held in their clubhouse Saturday night, with Dr. A. E. Horne, Atty. B. F. Hooks and Dr. G. W. Ish as co-hosts. Presiding at the meeting were Dr. W. W. Gibson, president, and Lawrence A. Westley, secretary.

INFORMATION, PLEASE

In our information please department, the Tri-State Defender is seeking the identities of senior citizens of 90 years of age or over, in Memphis and the Mid-South Area, who can share their memories of the early years after the close of the Civil War, in connection with the Centennial Anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation.

And, the search is on to select the winner of the "Miss Mid-South Contest", who will represent beauty, charm, gentility, personality and talent.

CLUB NEWS

The Southern Belles Bridge Club met with Mrs. Mary Rogers as hostess in a pre-holiday party.

Club secret pals exchanged gifts, enjoyed a delicious menu and an interesting game of progressive bridge.

Enjoying the party were St. Elmo Hampton, Ollie Mitchell, Mattis Oates, Louise Walker, Lulah McEwen, Hedgeman, Elizabeth Lewis, Thelma Evans, Mildred Joseph, Eleanor Currie and prize winners, Thelma Moore, Charlyne McGraw and Gwendolyn McEwen Smith.

LA RITA SOCIAL CLUB recently sponsored one of the most gala affairs of the holiday season at the Flame Club. These gifts were exchanged by club members, and members enjoyed an exceptionally fine dinner.

Mrs. Alma Morris, president, who views the Christmas party as a striking success, is expecting the popularity of the club to become well established. She also looks forward to the reactivation of several former members, as well as a successful year for the club.

The next meeting of the La Ritas will be held at the home of Mrs. Katherine Armstrong.

Members attending the party were Mrs. Ann Falls, Mrs. Bernice Jackson, Mrs. Janice Jean, Mrs. Julia Pleas, Mrs. T. Cora Smith and Mrs. Cleo Draper.

THE LOAFERETTES, wives of the members of The Loafers Club, chose the Flame Club for the setting of a gala holiday party given in honor of the Loafers on the eve of their New Year's Eve Ball. The holiday spirit was evident during the entire evening with speeches by the handsome prexy, Ray Thomas (who is a bachelor) Clifford Stockton, and the chairman of the affair, Mrs. Laura Elita Jones.

Moving pictures were made live music was rendered by "Ironing Board Sam" as he is better known, who made his organ out of an ironing board.

Those enjoying the festivities were Ray Thomas with Miss Bobbie Nelson, Chuck and Laura Jones; James and Rosemarie McKenzie; Roy and Bernice Mays; Charles and Rose Evans; Clifford and Lois Stockton; John and Pearl Gordon; Leonard and Wilma Campbell; Harold and Delores Lewis; Hosea and Delores Alexander; Joe and Barbara Atkins; William and Gerri Little; Lawrence and Joyce Blackmon; Charles and Elaine Campbell; Utillus and Elene Phillips; Joe and Dorothy Carr; Robert Yarbrough, whose wife was out of town; and guests Roy and Dorothy Vaughn of Nashville.

THE CWA CLUB had a red hot and spicy party with a real Santa Claus, all at Tucker's Place, 541 Vance Avenue on Dec. 29.

Sylvester Jones played Santa, and was riotous in his role, as he was accompanied by Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. Thelma Tallady-Broom, was the narrator for the party, and she really carried on.

The 16 members of C. W. A. entertained 115 guests, who were all given gifts by Santa Claus. Also, guests holding lucky numbers were given prizes.

Cocktails and dinner were served, and a delightful time was had at this holiday event.

HONORED AT A PARTY on retiring from the U.S. Postal service was Harvey A. Doran, who had been employed as an elevator operator at the Memphis Main Post Office 40 years. The party was given by Postal Employees at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus Jeffries, Sr., 2640 Supreme St. Seen in the first row (left-right) Miss C. Barber, Miss Gloria White, Mrs. W. L. ## Delta Mothers Visit Homes During Annual Party Tour

Among the gayer affairs of the recent holiday season was the Annual Round Robin Party given by members of the Memphis Delta Mothers Club, Thursday, Dec. 27.

First stop of the evening was the Supreme Avenue residence of Mrs. Minnie Brinkley. There members were served delicious refreshments of the season while they chatted and compared notes on the holiday activities of their families. Mrs. Brinkley served tasty foods and beverages.

Second stop was the South Parkway residence of Mrs. Ethel Douglas, and her Delta Daughter, Mrs. Gladys Greene who welcomed the caravan of ladies to a delightful second course which turned out to be a whole meal.

Final stop was the Hayes Road home of Mrs. Roberta Thomas. Assisted by her Delta Daughter, Miss Burline Couch, she served a very delicious repast after which the members gathered around the Christmas Tree for an exchange of gifts, which included such items as handkerchiefs and perfume. Later the group enjoyed seeing slides of the 1961 and 1962 Round Robin Parties which were taken and shown by Mrs. Mary Collier.

In the caravan as it wended its way over South and East Memphis were Mrs. Minnie Brinkley, Mrs. Alice Burchett, president; Mrs. J. L. Campbell, Mrs. Mary Collier, Mrs. Ethel Douglas, Mrs. Roberta Thomas, Mrs. Mary Lindsey, Mrs. M. L. Lenoir, Mrs. Beatrice McDowell, Mrs. Frank Parks, Mrs. Mattie Spragins. The group will meet again on Sunday Jan. 27, with Mrs. Campbell at 1287 S. Parkway, East.

PETE FALKNER PAINT & REPAIR INTERIOR and EXTERIOR 158 E. Carolina Ave. JA 7-5619

The six healthy children of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus L. Dukes stand as evidence! Carnation is the healthy family milk, with extra Vitamin D for sound teeth and straight, sturdy bodies! Left to right: Glenrose, 15; Olivia, 17; Mr. Dukes holding cute little Cary, 2; Clifford, 10; Mrs. Dukes; Christopher, 8; and Carl, 12.

"Carnation puts the sunshine in their smiles"

"Every one of my children started on Carnation—and stayed on Carnation!" declares their remarkable young mother, Mrs. Rufus Dukes. Both Mr. and Mrs. Dukes are still in their 30's and already have a lifetime of achievements behind them.

Rufus Dukes is manager of a leading auto agency in Chicago. He served with the United States Air Force after attending college. The Dukes are developing a 280-acre farm on which they have built a spacious country home and are completing a luxurious summer-winter resort.

"The Doctor recommended Carnation for Cary, and of course we kept him on Carnation after formula days," Mrs. Dukes explains. It's the milk every doctor knows.

Their family was featured as "Family of the Month" in a recent issue of Cart Magazine.

"The main thing in a family this size is to be sure they all get plenty of the right nourishment. If the children are healthy, everything else will take care of itself," Mrs. Dukes believes. "Carnation is our favorite milk for everything—drinking, cereals, coffee, cooking. You should see what it does for my meat loaf!" (See recipe below.) Even when you add an equal amount of water, Carnation is richer than sweet, whole milk."

Gnosis Gint Club's

Annual Dinner

The Gnosis Gint Club held its annual holiday dinner recently at the home of the president, Mrs. Elizabeth Woods of Clinton Pl.

After the turkey dinner, club members held a "Parade of Aprons." Mrs. Una James was narrator. First prize for modeling the prettiest apron went to Mrs. Polly Hearn, second, Mrs. Una James, and third, Mrs. Mattie Johnson.

Judges were Mrs. Mary Murphy, Mrs. R. Spights, and Mrs. B. Pettigrew. Special guest was the father of Mrs. Polly Hearn.

After the parade of aprons, members exchanged gifts with their secret pals and presented gifts to the guests.

Members sang songs after remarks by the president.

Vixen Social Club

Elects Officers

When the Vixen Social club held a recent meeting officers for 1963 were elected. Named president was Mrs. Romanita Williams. Other officers include: Mrs. Edna Murphy, vice president; Mrs. Mildred Lester, financial secretary; Mrs. Evelyn Lewis, secretary; Mrs. Armentha Fleming, club reporter; and Mrs. Dorothy McNeal, chairman of the sick committee. Also elected to an office were Mrs. Mable Campbell, and Mrs. Oreltha Donaldson.

The meeting was held at the home of the newly elected president, Mrs. Fleming of Marble Ave.

The club ended its 1962 term at a party at which James Meredith, a student at the University of Mississippi, was special guest. He was kept busy giving autographs. The party was held at the home of Mrs. Marion Nolan of Dempster Rd.

Following election of officers secret pals were selected. The next meeting is scheduled to be held at the home of Mrs. Campbell.

The JACKSON Scene by Anna C. Cooke

IDEA CLUB

January is a rather slow month on the social scene but may I remind you to do your little civic duty of making your contribution to the "March of Dimes." Once just for Polio, the Foundation has included all crippling diseases of children.

The first Friday of the month, the spacious home of President and Mrs. C. A. Kirkendoll was the setting for the monthly meeting of the New Idea Club when Mrs. Kirkendoll served as the gracious hostess.

A delicious menu complimented the meeting after the business session.

Sorors of the Jackson Alumnae chapter of Delta Sigma Sorority, Inc., journeyed from Jackson and surrounding communities to Humboldt, last Saturday as guests of Mesdames Dorothy McKinney, Cottrell Thomas and Louise Cooper in the lovely home of Mrs. McKinney.

It was the regular January meeting and more sorors than usual were in attendance as the 50th Anniversary celebration of Delta Sigma Theta was approaching.

Plans were completed for the Jackson observance and regrets were mentioned that no sorors from the Jackson Alumnae chapter would be able to attend the National observance which took place in Washington, D.C. on Jan. 12 to 13 at which time a delicious turkey dinner was served. "Thank you's" were also given from the four children who entered all white schools this year for the gifts they received from the sorority at Christmas. This is a national project of Delta to honor those who brave the way as barriers are let down.

Applications are now being accepted by Delta from high school senior girls who have talent and are interested in participating in the "Miss Bronze West Tennessee Pageant." You may contact Mrs. A. L. Cooke, 120 Hale Street, Jackson, Tenn.

Sports fans are certainly getting thrills from both Lane and Merry High teams as they are well in the basketball season now. Lane left last week on tour to Florida after beating Tuskegee, Knoxville, and Rust. We are wishing them loads of luck.

Lane Senior Engaged To A Memphis Teacher

By ANNE L. COOKE

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Edwards Pyles, Sr., of Holyoke, Mass., this week announced the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Pyles, to Palmer Mosby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mosby of Memphis.

Miss Pyles, a 1959 graduate of Holyoke High school, is a senior and an honor student at Lane college in Jackson, where she is majoring in elementary education and minoring in Spanish.

She expects to be graduated in May 1963 with a bachelor of arts degree.

Miss Pyles is a member of the Lanite staff, Student National Education Association, Student Christian Association, College Bowl, Student Movement Association, the Lane college choir and president of the Beta Chi chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority. She also does private tutoring in private homes.

NAMED TO 'WHO'S WHO'
Recently Miss Pyles was named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities," and is presently reigning as "Miss Personality" of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity.

Mr. Mosby, a 1962 graduate of Lane college, where he belonged to Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, is teaching in the Memphis city school system.

Beginning this week you will receive a new type of bill for electricity, gas and water.

The new bills will be processed by machines and thus will be another step in cutting costs through improved efficiency by the Division.

The new bill, in addition to showing the last date for paying the net amount, will show the last date for paying at neighborhood collection stations such as drug stores, hardware stores and other points. After this date, the customer must pay the bill in person or by mail to the Main office at 179 Madison or at any Division rural agent office. This change will improve service and should reduce the possibility of the Division disconnecting customers who have paid their bill on the last possible date before service is disconnected.

The new bills are light blue on the billing side and include a complete explanation of symbols used to identify charges. Please do not fold, staple or alter the bill in any way in order that it may go through the processing machine smoothly.

NAIA SCORING LEADERS

According to statistics announced at the Kansas City headquarters of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, LeMoyné college is leading the nation's small college basketball teams in scoring.

The Mad Magicians have averaged 92.6 points per game. Close behind the local Purple Wave quintet is Philadelphia Textile, which is unbeaten, and has a 91.5 average.

The amazing Willie Shaw, Lane college shooting phenom, gave Tennessee teams their best showing in NAIA statistics in quite a few years. Shaw is a graduate of Merry High in Jackson just a basketball throw across the street from Lane.

Shaw has been scoring ten more points per game than last year, when he was the small college scoring champ with a 32.8 average. Again, the 6 foot junior leads the point producers with a 42.2 per game mark. In one game early in the season against Talladega, Shaw sent 53 points sizzling through the nets. Shaw does all right at the charity line where he has made 96 per cent of 47 chances and 45 points.

Against LeMoyné at Bruce Hall, Shaw poured in 34 tallies but his teammates were unable to give him enough support to overcome the Magicians.

KNOXVILLE, LEMOYNE VICTIM

Owens and LeMoyné took the measure of Arkansas Baptist College of Little Rock and Knoxville last week to give the locals a clean sweep of the invaders. Owens' fastbreaking Hornets gained a 88-72 victory over the stubborn Arkansas five. LeMoyné sailed to an easy win over the usually tough Julian Bell tutored Knoxville crew, 89-72. The Magicians got identical scoring performances from sharpshooters Dick Dumas and Monroe Currin. Both chalked up 27 points each.

Dumas was especially effective in the first half.

Bell, former Memphis and coach at Booker T. Washington here, got a little hot under the collar about the officiating. In one heated discussion with Ulysees Hunt, Bell grabbed the arm of Hunt and made him hear him out.

This columnist talked with the veteran SIAC coach after the game and Bell revealed that his biggest complaint about officials is "They don't understand the point of reference."

I gathered he meant the actual intent or interpretation of the rules. He recalled the days when the coaches would call each other's games.

Bell's discontent wasn't just over bad officiating. His Knoxville squad is not one of his better teams. This is the first season that a LeMoyné team has downed Knoxville twice in one season. As a matter of fact, the East Tennessee five, was winless in five games after being routed by LeMoyné. The night before coming to Memphis, Shaw and Lane had put the ringers on their ex-coach in a close game. Shaw got 39 to make Bell wish he had hauled him off to Knoxville when he was offered the Jackson native in 1960.

ROCKY PREP WEEK

Action in the Prep League cage race was unpredictable last week with three upsets and one near-miss. The startling results left the league standings in a traffic jam.

The Lester Lions, the top team throughout December, finally got their lumps in an unbelievable comeback effort by the defending league champs, the Washington Warriors, 63-54, at Lester.

The Warriors were down as much as 17-0 in the first quarter before pulling within five at the half, 33-27.

Down the stretch, the Warriors outdistanced the Lions, 36-21. According to Coach Bill Fowles, it was a team effort all the way, evident by the Warriors getting four players in double figures, headed by Leroy Weakley's 19 and Walt Cummings' throwing in 18.

Lester's scoring ace, Richard Jones, was held to 12 with Charles Wright's 15 tops among the Lions' scorers.

Lester narrowly escaped disaster earlier in the week, when they too, had to rally to pull out a 35-25 halftime advantage, only to fold in the fourth quarter. Lester led 57-56 with 20 seconds left. Douglass fouled, trying for a steal and Wright made two free tosses with the game over.

Douglass did a complete turn about in its next game at Melrose, looking like anything but the team that had dropped a three point decision to Lester in their last game. Nevertheless, the Golden Wildcats showed no mercy over the perplexed Douglass emotions, as they started slow, but got better with each quarter in racking up a 72-41 lopsided win.

James Sandridge made up for a poor scoring performance the last time out against Douglass by scoring 13 out of 15 free-throws and a total of 31 points.

It was a busy week for Melrose who turned back Washington, 74-69, at the Warriors' gym, then midweek ran afoul of the deadly venom of the Carver Cobras, 74-70. Carver got a 32 point night from Willie Gilliland as they had to hustle to protect a 14-point halftime edge.

Father Bertrand had an individual school record set with Redell Smith and Bobby Todd, hitting 29 points each to help rout Manassas, 76-62. Wesley Mitchell's 23 kept the Tigers within range.

In non-league action, Carver split two games with Woodstock; Carver winning 66-54 at Woodstock. Woodstock returned the hostility with a 50-46 count on the Carver hardwood.

Bertrand trounced Halls, 77-49. Ripley, their neighbors from down the highway, were equally maltreated in the Bluff City when Washington became the first team to go over the century this season in posting a 104-35 triumph. Once again it was balanced Washington scoring with six players of 12 scoring in double figures.

Civic Club Dance

The Walker Homes Civic club has made plans to sponsor a "Sweethearts" dance at the New Club Mona Lisa, 574 Peebles Rd., Friday night, Feb. 8.

AMONG FIRST YOUNGSTERS of the Negro race to play golf at Audubon Park after it was desegregated Jan. 1, are, left-right, Larry Gilliam, 13, Charles Rogers, Jr., 11, and Mark Anthony Gray, 12. Larry, a sixth grader at St. Anthony Catholic School, is the son of Mrs. Hunter, 3168 Chelsea

St.; Charles is a sixth grader at Douglass school. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rogers, Sr., 1701 Brooklyn St.; and Mark, a seventh grader at Douglass school, is the son of Mrs. Theodosia Carter, 3043 Mt. Olive St. (Staff Photo by Ernest Withers)

Magicians To Play Five More Home Games Before Season Closes

LeMoyné's Magicians will play five more home games before closing out their scheduled basketball season the middle of next month.

Memphis cage fans will see them again Feb. 1 against Alabama A&M, Feb. 2 against Stillman, Feb. 5 against Miles, Feb. 11 against Fisk and Feb. 14 against Philander Smith.

The Magicians must play six more road games. They'll be at Stillman, Jan. 17, and at Miles, Jan. 18. Alabama State will be LeMoyné's host, Jan. 25, and Tuskegee, Jan. 26. The locals invade Lane, Jan. 29, and Philander Smith, Feb. 9.

If LeMoyné finishes the conference race among the top 10, the Magicians will participate in the SIAC tournament at Tuskegee.

Going into Monday night's game with Dillard University of the Gulf Coast Conference, LeMoyné boasted an SIAC record of five wins and two defeats.

The victories were over

Alabama State, Lane, Knoxville (twice) and Fisk. The Magic Boys lost to Alabama A&M, 91-85, in Alabama, and to Tuskegee here, 84-83.

They're still smarting from that defeat at the hands of Tuskegee and will be looking for revenge when they tackle the Tigers again later this month at Tuskegee.

The Magicians looked good last week in their 89-72 win over Knoxville. Fact is, some fans are beginning to say this is Jerry Johnson's top team in his five years at LeMoyné.

With his five dependable—James Gordon, Willie Herenton, Jerome Wright, Monroe Currin and Richard Dumas—in there most of the way, Johnson's LeMoynites soon solved KC's keep-the-ball-moving tactics and went on to take a commanding lead.

Curran, the floor general, was high for LeMoyné with 26, but pressing him was his flashy teammate, Dumas, who got 25. John Baggett of Knoxville also deposited 26 points.

Gordon of LeMoyné accounted for 16, and Wright, 11. Five other Magicians were given time to show their skill on the floor: Robert Hambrick, Verties Sails, Cleophus Owens, Jimmy Charlton and Reginald Sykes.

David Gaines, senior guard from Detroit who has starred three years for LeMoyné, will be back in action when the Magicians show here again.

On the weekend, LeMoyné was leading the nation's small college basketball teams in scoring, according to statistics released by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA).

Monroe Currin, LeMoyné's sophomore guard and floor general from Halls, Tenn., was ranked sixth by NCAA among the nation's small college individual scorers.

LeMoyné also stands second in the 16-team Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

Hornets Play Okolona Here On Jan. 17

The Owen College Hornets will play Okolona Jr. college on Thursday, Jan. 17, at the Booker T. Washington High School Gymnasium at 8:00 p.m. The Hornets will go into this game with a 3-3 season record.

Last week, the fast improving team took a win over Arkansas Baptist College 88 to 74 on Wednesday at home, and lost to Coahoma Jr. College 102 to 69 on Saturday night in Clarksdale, Miss.

Coach Robert Grider has only two sophomores on his small squad of scrappy players.

Freddie Rhodes, sophomore guard from Mt. Pisgah High School, and James Williams, freshman center from Hall High School of Alcoa, Tenn., lead their teammates in scoring.

Florida and Missouri, the MVC Band, under the direction of Russell Boone and his assistant Tyrone Tyler, in three years has blossomed into one of the nation's most respected and acclaimed units.

The MVC Band has appeared in parades in Jackson, Greenwood, Indianola, Vicksburg and Columbus, Mississippi, Helena, Arkansas, and at the recent 24th Annual Blues Bowl in Memphis.

JEROME WRIGHT LEMOYNE'S CENTER — At the jumping post for LeMoyné's Magicians this season is a 6-5 freshman from Louisville, Ky., Jerome Wright. He made the All-District team during his senior year at Central High in Louisville. Wright has been a dependable cog and played an outstanding role for the Magicians in their decisive victory over Knoxville last week.
